

Transportation in Bristol Bay

Methods of transportation in Bristol Bay to Brownfield's sites.

The Bristol Bay Region is the size of the state of Ohio.

Family owned businesses such as air taxi's are one of the most frequently used methods of transportation. Single engine aircraft such as this Cessna 207 six passenger aircraft haul people, mail, cargo and even dog teams.

Brownfield's Summer Intern, Melinda Gardiner, preparing to travel to the Ekwok village 30 minutes away by single engine Cessna 207 aircraft.

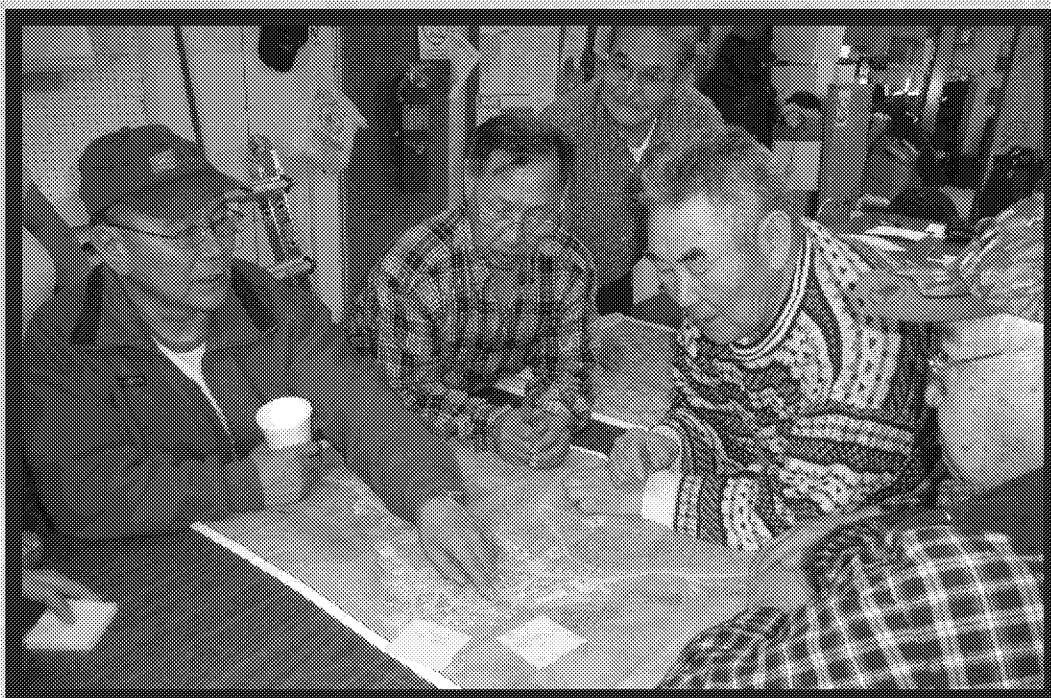

Father and son dog musher at Koliganek.

Snow-machines are a winter transportation means.

Commerical Salmon Seinners and skiffs at Chiginik Lagoon.

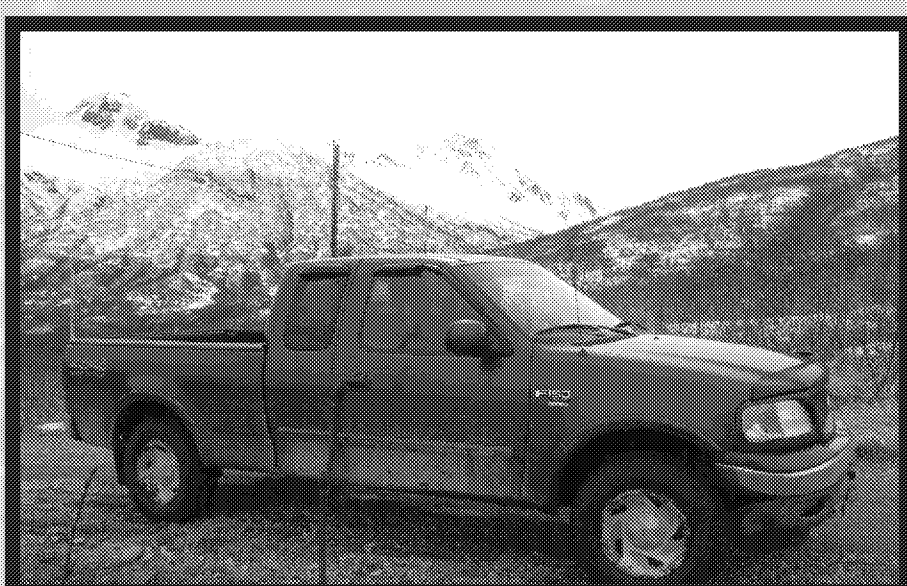

Manokotak Elders identifying contaminated sites at a brownfield's meeting in 2009.

Four-Wheelers are one of the main methods of transportation in rural Alaska.

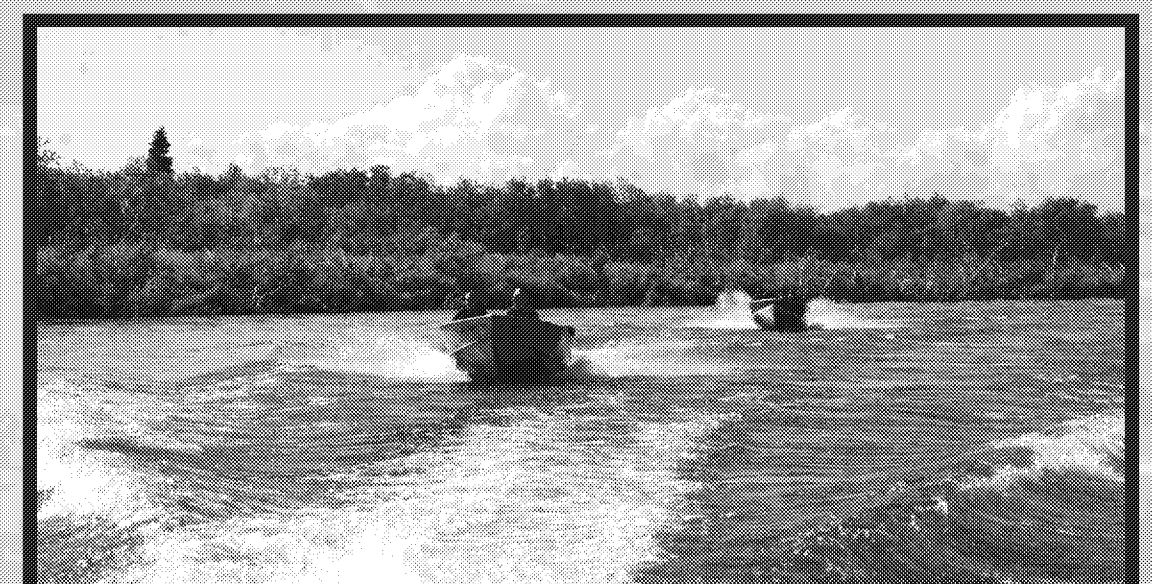

Village mini transportation.

Four-wheel drive pickups are in many villages among Bristol Bay.

Two seater Super Cub on floats.

Skiffs are common transportation during ice free months.